3. When Client opens account, he/she selects currency of deposit on his/her own (from those offered by Company). In this currency all trading and non-trading operations on account are nominated settled and that includes floating profit and loss, commission payments, marginal requirements. Client accepts and acknowledges all risks arising in the result of change of currency of deposit and is fully responsible for such consequences.

4. When making non-trading operations, the Client independently chooses the method and currency of transfer from the list proposed by the Company. The Client is aware of and takes into account all the risks arising from changes in the Company's internal exchange rates, and fully responsible for their consequences.

7. A high level of fluctuations often observed in the foresaid trading with regard to not high margin requirements can work for you as well as against you. Using fluctuations may result in both great loss and great profit. The Client shall hold full responsibility for all risks, financial resources used and the chosen trading strategy.

8. When executing trading operations through the client terminal, the Client shall assume the risk of financial loss, which can be caused by:

In this case the Client shall be liable for losses arising from this situation because the Client determines volume of his/her new positions.
